

Framing Focus

PHOTOGRAPHIC MEMORIES

Whether one of your treasured photographs was taken 50 years ago or a few weeks ago, you can cherish it by having it custom framed. Frame these memories and enjoy them everyday in a beautifully created frame design. There is virtually no limit to what we can design. So, if you've been storing away a special photo and want to enjoy it daily, bring it in. From the smallest wallet-size photo to a grand portrait, we will work with you to make something special. If you have a collection of photos you'd like to display together, we can do that too. We can also incorporate objects that you'd like to display along with your photos to create a wonderful shadowbox presentation.

Whatever you envision, we have a variety of framing materials to transform your special photos into your very own works of art. And knowing how important these items are, we can advise you about what framing materials will best protect your photographs for years to come. Let us help ensure that these special items garner the respect that they deserve. ■

A vintage photo of relatives, framed with a few of their personal items, allows you to connect with those memories everyday.

Framed portraits of weddings and other special events reflect the joy of the day.

This photograph of the Chrysler Building in New York City is enhanced by this dramatic framing.

Give a Place of Honor

Veterans' Day is November 11th. Are you looking for a way to recognize the military achievements of a loved one or an admired individual? How about framing their medals, ribbons, flags, or other items from their time served to make a spectacular piece? Acknowledge their contribution by showcasing these valuable items and make them proud.

If you aren't sure how you'd like the items presented, we'll work with you to create something that you'll love. Bring in the items—we'll discuss framing options, and then arrange them until we achieve a great design. Whether you have one large piece to display, numerous smaller items, or a varied collection, you will have an attractive, unified piece that shows your veteran just how important they are to you. ■

Mailing Address Here

Your promotional or other information here